Comments

1. poll edge is a ridge formed by intersection of 4 flake scars, 2 on front + 2 on back face. They all look ground in, but 2 on back might not be. One scar on each face begins by running perpendicularly to long axis of celt.
2. "Cunnington MS. p.173. No account of discovery. Probably came from Cladown Barrow excavated by Cunnington in 1882, although it is not mentioned."
